Gender queer : a memoir

Kobabe, Maia (author,, illustrator.), Kobabe, Phoebe, (illustrator.).

Summary: "In 2014, Maia Kobabe, who uses e/em/eir pronouns, thought that a comic of reading statistics would be the last autobiographical comic e would ever write. At the time, it was the only thing e felt comfortable with strangers knowing about em. ...Maia's intensely cathartic autobiography charts eir journey of self-identity, which includes the mortification and confusion of adolescent crushes, grappling with how to come out to family and society, bonding with friends over erotic gay fanfiction, and facing the trauma and fundamental violation of pap smears. Started as a way to explain to eir family what it means to be nonbinary and asexual, [this book] is more than a personal story: it is a useful and touching guide on gender identity--what it means and how to think about it--for advocates, friends, and humans everywhere."--

The hate u give

Thomas, Angie (author.).

Summary: Sixteen-year-old Starr Carter moves between two worlds: the poor neighborhood where she lives and the fancy suburban prep school she attends. The uneasy balance between these worlds is shattered when Starr witnesses the fatal shooting of her childhood best friend Khalil at the hands of a police officer. Khalil was unarmed. Soon afterward, his death is a national headline. Some are calling him a thug, maybe even a drug dealer and a gangbanger. Protesters are taking to the streets in Khalil's name. Some cops and the local drug lord try to intimidate Starr and her family. What everyone wants to know is: what really went down that night? And the only person alive who can answer that is Starr. But what Starr does or does not say could upend her community. It could also endanger her life.--

Summary: Starr Carter navigates the perilous waters between her poor, black neighborhood and her prestigious, mainly white private school. This all changes when she finds herself in the middle of racial activism after her best friend is shot by police officers, and she's forced to make a decision. Allow the media to skewer her friend to protect the status quo, or stand up and tell the truth in memory of Khalil?

The Glass Castle[audio] : a memoir

Walls, Jeannette. (Author).

Summary: Jeannette Walls tells the story about her childhood. She talks about living like nomads, moving among Southwest desert towns, camping in the mountains. Retreating to the dismal West Virginia mining town--and the family-- her father, Rex Walls, had done everything he could to escape. He drank. He stole the grocery money and disappeared for days. As the dysfunction of the family escalated, Jeannette and her brother and sisters had to fend for themselves, supporting one another as they weathered their parents' betrayals and, finally, found the resources and will to leave home.

The bluest eye

Morrison, Toni. (Author).

Summary: The story of eleven-year-old Pecola Breedlove -- a black girl in an America whose love for its blond, blue-eyed children can devastate all others -- who prays for her eyes to turn blue: so that she will be beautiful, so that people will look at her, so that her world will be different. This is the story of the nightmare at the heart of her yearning, and the tragedy of its fulfillment.

This book is gay

Dawson, James (Young adult fiction writer) (author.). Gerrell, Spike, (illustrator.).

Summary: "There's a long-running joke that, after "coming out," a lesbian, gay guy, bisexual, or trans person should receive a membership card and instruction manual. THIS IS THAT INSTRUCTION MANUAL. You're welcome. Inside you'll find the answers to all the questions you ever wanted to ask: from sex to politics, hooking up to stereotypes, coming out and more. This candid, funny, and uncensored exploration of sexuality and what it's like to grow up LGBT also includes real stories from people across the gender and sexual spectrums, not to mention hilarious illustrations. You will be entertained. You will be informed. But most importantly, you will know that however you identify (or don't) and whomever you love, you are exceptional. You matter. And so does this book."--

Summary: Starr Carter navigates the perilous waters between her poor, black neighborhood and her prestigious, mainly white private school. This all changes when she finds herself in the middle of racial activism after her best friend is shot by police officers, and she's forced to make a decision. Allow the media to skewer her friend to protect the status quo, or stand up and tell the truth in memory of Khalil?

The hate u give

Thomas, Angie (author.).

Summary: Sixteen-year-old Starr Carter moves between two worlds: the poor neighborhood where she lives and the fancy suburban prep school she attends. The uneasy balance between these worlds is shattered when Starr witnesses the fatal shooting of her childhood best friend Khalil at the hands of a police officer. Khalil was unarmed. Soon afterward, his death is a national headline. Some are calling him a thug, maybe even a drug dealer and a gangbanger. Protesters are taking to the streets in Khalil's name. Some cops and the local drug lord try to intimidate Starr and her family. What everyone wants to know is: what really went down that night? And the only person alive who can answer that is Starr. But what Starr does or does not say could upend her community. It could also endanger her life.--

The other boy

Hennessey, M. G. (author). Monster, Sté. (illustrator).

Summary: Twelve-year-old Shane Woods is just a regular boy. He loves pitching for his baseball team, working on his graphic novel, and hanging out with his best friend, Josh. But Shane is keeping something private, something that might make a difference to his teammates, to Josh, and to his new crush, Madeline. And when a classmate threatens to reveal his secret, Shane's whole world comes crashing down. It will take a lot of courage for Shane to ignore the ridicule and hate, and show the world that he's still the same boy he was before. But in the end, those who stand beside him may surprise everyone, including Shane. -- From back cover.

Rick

Gino, Alex (author.)

Summary: Eleven-year-old Rick Ramsey has generally gone along with everybody, just not making waves, even though he is increasingly uncomfortable with his father's jokes about girls, and his best friend's explicit talk about sex; but now in middle school he discovers the Rainbow Spectrum club, where kids of many genders and identities can express themselves--and maybe among them he can find new friends and discover his own identity, which may just be to opt out of sex altogether.

Melissa.

Gino, Alex (author).

Summary: "When people look at George, they think they see a boy. But she knows she's not a boy. She knows she's a girl. George thinks she'll have to keep this a secret forever. Then her teacher announces that their class play is going to be Charlotte's Web. George really, really, really wants to play Charlotte. But the teacher says she can't even try out for the part because she's a boy. With the help of her best friend, Kelly, George comes up with a plan. Not just so she can be Charlotte—but so everyone can know who she is, once and for all." -- Provided by publisher.

A quick & easy guide to they/them pronouns

Bongiovanni, Archie (author, illustrator), Jimerson, Tristan, (author, illustrator).

Summary: "Archie, a snarky genderqueer artist, is tired of people not understanding gender-neutral pronouns. Tristan, a cisgender dude, is looking for an easy way to introduce gender-neutral pronouns to his increasingly diverse workplace. The longtime best friends team up in this short and fun comic guide that explains what pronouns are, why they matter, and how to use them. They also include what to do if you make a mistake, and some tips-and-tricks for those who identify outside of the binary to keep themselves safe in this binary-centric world." -- Publisher's description

The bluest eye

Morrison, Toni. (Author)

Summary: The story of eleven-year-old Pecola Breedlove -- a black girl in an America whose love for its blond, blue-eyed children can devastate all others -- who prays for her eyes to turn blue: so that she will be beautiful, so that people will look at her, so that her world will be different. This is the story of the nightmare at the heart of her yearning, and the tragedy of its fulfillment.

Book # 4 - Gender Queer: A Memoir by Maia Kobabe

This book is being challenged because of explicit sexual images in a graphic novel.

This book is fairly new in BC school libraries and provides students struggling with their identity a book through which they can identify. It has a few drawn pictures of sexual acts, however, when you read the whole book these pictures do not distract from the core message. It is a powerful story detailing the struggles of a non-binary person with understanding what is happening with their body, and also becoming comfortable in society as a non-binary person. The book won the Alex Award given by the American Library Association for books that hold a special appeal to young adults ages 12 to 18.

Of the three books this committee reviewed, this book was deemed the most impactful for students struggling with their identity. And the committee felt that this book helps not only those non-binary students but also friends and family to be empathetic with their non-binary classmates and children so that they can better support them. This is an identified vulnerable group of students who need resources to ensure they feel valued and supported. The story within this book is about a lived experience and is not intended to shock or stimulate the reader.

The committee believes these vulnerable students need access to a resource like Gender Queer: A Memoir, but it also recognizes that this book has pictures that, if taken out of context, make others uncomfortable with its images. The book is not mandatory reading and is being accessed at Parkland by a few students. One of our mandates is to support our most vulnerable students; those with identity questions are some of these students.

The book is not being used as a required reading assignment for any of our classes. We believe this book is an appropriate learning resource in our school library.

Parents can request that their children not sign this book out, but we recommend reading it before making that decision.

Concluding Comments

AP 252 provides clear direction to school committees on the process to evaluate resources that are challenged and states, in part, that "no parent or group has the right to determine the print or non-print resources for students other than their own children." However, parents and guardians are able to request that their own children not be able to sign out a particular resource from the Library Learning Commons. Should request this for their children, we will certainly accommodate it.

With respect,

Kal Russell Principal	Aaron Mueller Librarian	Roger Young YFC Counsellor	Ashley Sonosky PAC President

Parkland Secondary School Learning Resource Committee

The book is not being used as required reading for any of our classes. We believe this book is an appropriate learning resource in our school Library Learning Commons collection. Due to the mature themes, this book will only be signed out to grade 11 and 12 students.

Parents can request that their children not sign this book out by contacting the school.

Book # 2 - Identical by Ellen Hopkins

Two of our committee members have read this book. Both noted that they believed that if one student in a school were a victim of incest, this book would be valuable for those students, and it might convince them to seek counselling support.

This book was lost by the last student to sign it out. Due to low circulation, it will not be replaced in the library. Our committee could not review this book, and since it is not going back on the shelf at the Parkland library, we will not be reviewing it.

Book # 3 - This Book is Gay by Juno Dawson

This book is being challenged because it is a manual for all areas of life for LGBTQ+ people, including sexuality and LGBTQ+ Sexual Health.

This book is available in school libraries across BC to provide factual information to those students questioning their identity and sexuality. It provides information on the LGBTQ+ identity and lifestyle. It has been approved by SOGI 123 as an appropriate learning resource for students in school. SOGI 123 learning resources have been formally selected, evaluated and supported by Focused Education Resources, the provincial shared services organization that evaluates and procures age-appropriate and curriculum-aligned resources for schools using evidence-based evaluations. The Focused Education Resources Board is composed of both senior school district educators and Ministry of Education and Child Care senior staff.

All BC schools are working to provide inclusive and safe spaces for students of all sexual orientations and gender identities, including information on LGBTQ+ lifestyles and health issues. The committee believes this book is appropriate for our school Library Learning Commons collection as a non-fiction learning resource for students looking for LGBTQ+ information. The book is not being used as a required reading assignment for any of our classes.

Parents can request that their children not sign this book out by contacting the school.

As part of our review, we looked at how learning resources are selected at Parkland Secondary to ensure that only appropriate resources are being selected and purchased. One of the core principles in selecting resources for our school Library Learning Commons collection is "selecting resource materials for students and teachers; consideration is made to include a wide variety of educationally appropriate materials which will provide for a range of teaching and learning" as well that "all usages of materials will involve the teacher as the facilitator of learning as necessary; students will have some choice in materials selection for specific purposes, such as independent reading or research." In summary, all resources selected for inclusion in our school Library Learning Commons collection are vetted to be age and developmentally-appropriate, evaluated for reliability and bias, and reflect cultural and societal diversity.

Finally, in this process, we considered the direction we are receiving from the Ministry of Education and Child Care on inclusive education in the province. SOGI is grounded in human rights legislation, and as such, we all carry the responsibility to proactively create safe, inclusive learning environments for all students. Sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expressions are protected grounds in the B.C. Human Rights Code.

The Parkland Learning Resources Committee has completed its review of the following learning resources based on the request received on February 28, 2023.

Book # 1 - The Bluest Eye by Toni Morrison

This book is being challenged because it has a couple of explicit passages depicting child sexual abuse and incest.

This book is frequently used in secondary school English classes across North America to teach students how to explore and understand more complex writing that is open to many interpretations by the reader. It is also a novel by an author of colour about people of colour and their experiences with discrimination and racism who are under-represented in literature in our school Library Learning Commons.

At Parkland, it is available in our Library Learning Commons for students to access for individual reading. It has not circulated in recent years. The author, Toni Morrison, is a Nobel Prize winning author in Literature who is also a person of colour and is known to be a voice for the lived experiences of the African-American people.

The committee believes this book is appropriate for our school library collection as a learning resource for students looking for a challenging read. Only students with a mature reading level and an advanced ability to interpret text will engage with this novel. The story is about a lived experience and cultural exposure and has no intent to shock or titillate the reader.

This book has been critically acclaimed by secondary school English teachers, school librarians and scholars as a way to teach and interpret complex and experimental writing styles, and students learn how to read more challenging text, experience a different writing style and how to appreciate ambiguity in the text. Many schools across North America use this novel in Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate and Honours English classes.

The book is not being used as required reading for any of our classes. We believe this book is an appropriate learning resource in our school Library Learning Commons collection. Due to the mature themes, this book will only be signed out to grade 11 and 12 students.

Parents can request that their children not sign this book out by contacting the school.

PARKLAND SECONDARY SCHOOL

An Innovative, Inspiring, Inclusive Learning Community

April 25, 2023

Mr. Dave Eberwein
Superintendent of Schools
Saanich School District

Dear Mr. Eberwein:

RE: Feb 28, 2023 Letter
Parkland Secondary School - Learning Resource Challenge

Background

Principal Kal Russell received an email from [redacted] Feb 28th outlining their concerns over four books that are listed on the Parkland Secondary School library resource list. Mr. Eberwein, Board Chair Tim Dunford and Minister Rachna Singh were also addressed in the correspondence. Specifically, [redacted] asked that the four books be removed from circulation due to content that they felt is inappropriate.

As per Administrative Procedure 252 - Challenge of Learning Resources, Mr. Russell appointed a Parkland Learning Resource Committee to review the complaint and the referenced resources. The committee has now completed an extensive review of the resources. The composition of the committee and our signatures are indicated at the bottom of this letter.

We will outline our conclusions in the following sections.

Learning Resource Review

The Parkland Learning Resource Committee has completed its review of the challenged books. In our review process, we read the books and discussed their appropriateness and value as resources in our school Library Learning Commons collection.

We ensured that the committee was aware of district Administrative Procedure 252, which provides clear guidance on the processes required to assess learning resources that have been challenged by a parent or guardian.

As part of our review, we looked at how learning resources are selected at Parkland Secondary to ensure that only appropriate resources are being selected and purchased. One of the core principles in selecting resources for our school Library Learning Commons collection is "selecting resource materials for students and teachers; consideration is made to include a wide variety of educationally appropriate materials which will provide for a range of teaching and learning" as well that "all usages of materials will involve the teacher as the facilitator of learning as necessary; students will have some choice in materials selection for specific purposes, such as independent reading or research." In summary, all resources selected for inclusion in our school Library

Parkland Learning Resources Challenge

Hi ... The Parkland Learning Resources Committee's conclusions from its review of Challenged Learning Resources are attached. The original copy of the letter has been sent to the Superintendent of Schools as per policy.

Thanks, Kal
